Tracy, California
Volume 52, 1974

The birds are singing and the leaves are still,
You are slowly falling asleep
under an oak tree.
You think to yourself, "these must be the peaceful moments in life."

Harmony is getting together,
Staying together,
Just being happy
within your own mind and body, knowing you're not alone in everything you do.

When you've done something right,
it gives you a great feeling . . .
When everything in a day goes your way,
When you think you're the happiest person in the world . . .
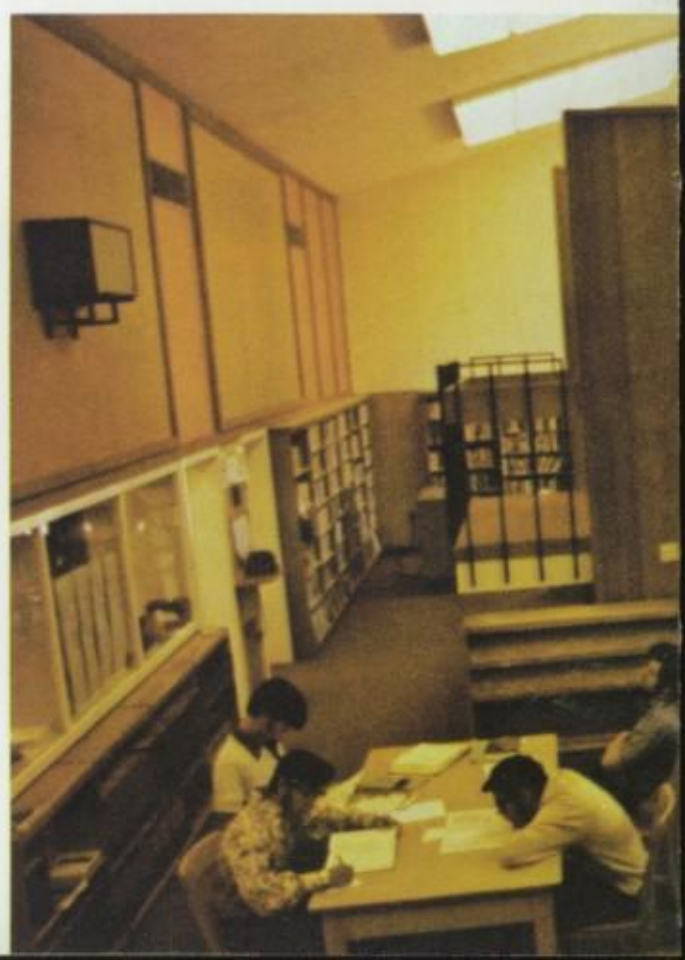
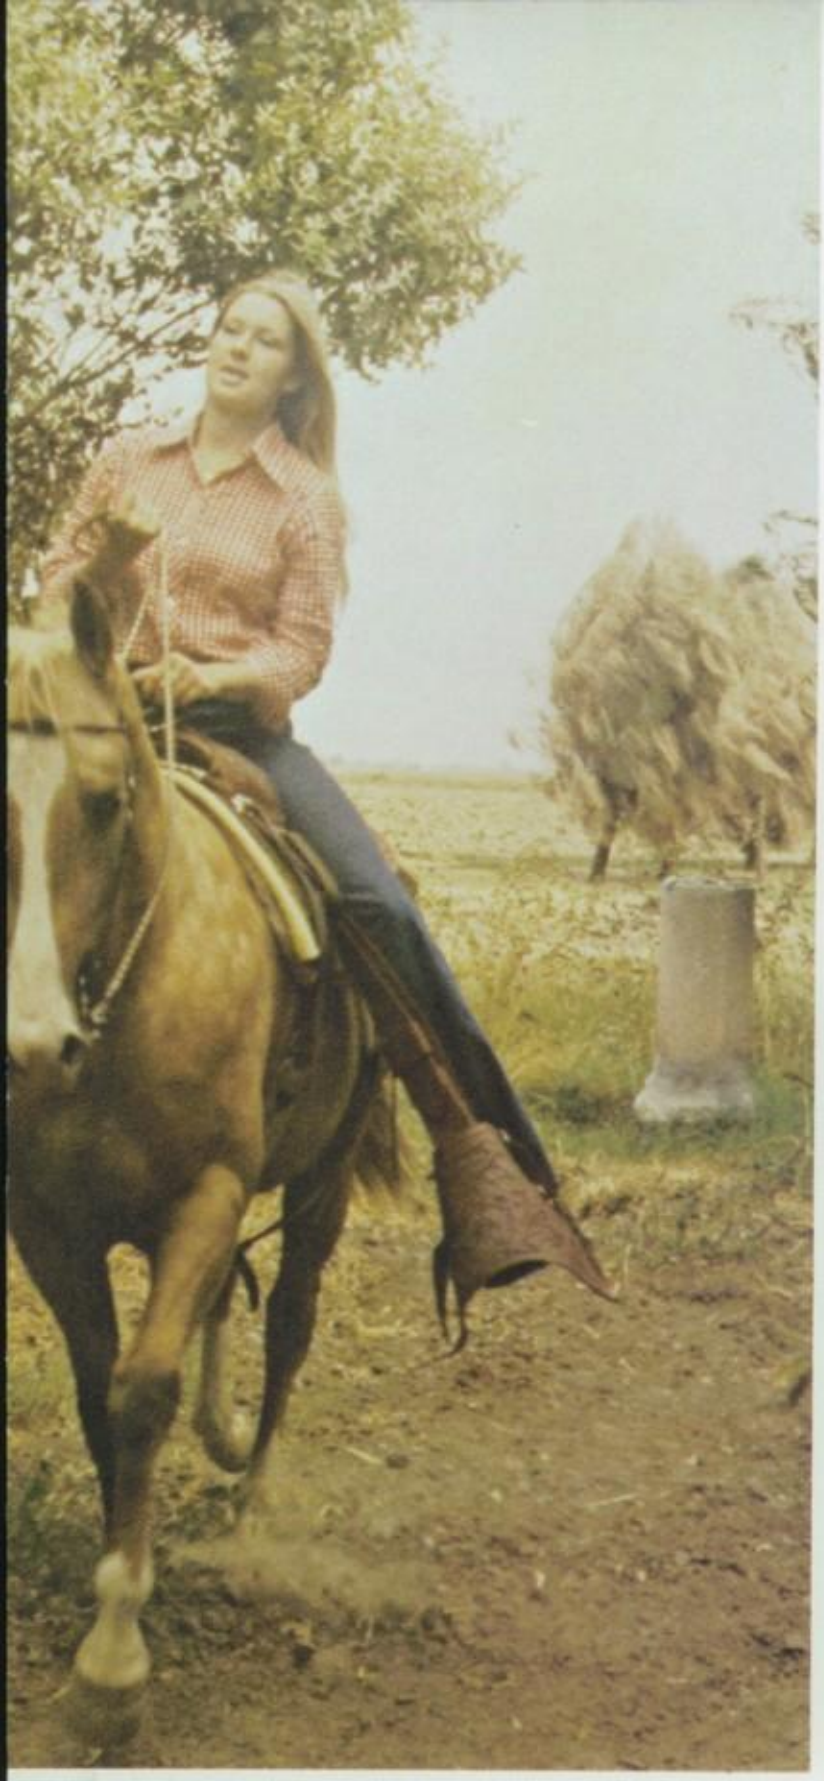
The feeling is contentment.





A moment you have to yourself,
No one to interrupt your thoughts,
The feeling you get when you're sitting alone in your room listening to a radio.
Quiet can be beautiful, when it's needed

Being with someone you enjoy under a shady tree, or just being totally at ease could be a moment of calmness . . .

You look across the water,
You see only the calm and the peaceful,
All your worries have suddenly disappeared;
It's funny how the beautiful moments of tranquility seem to go by so quickly.

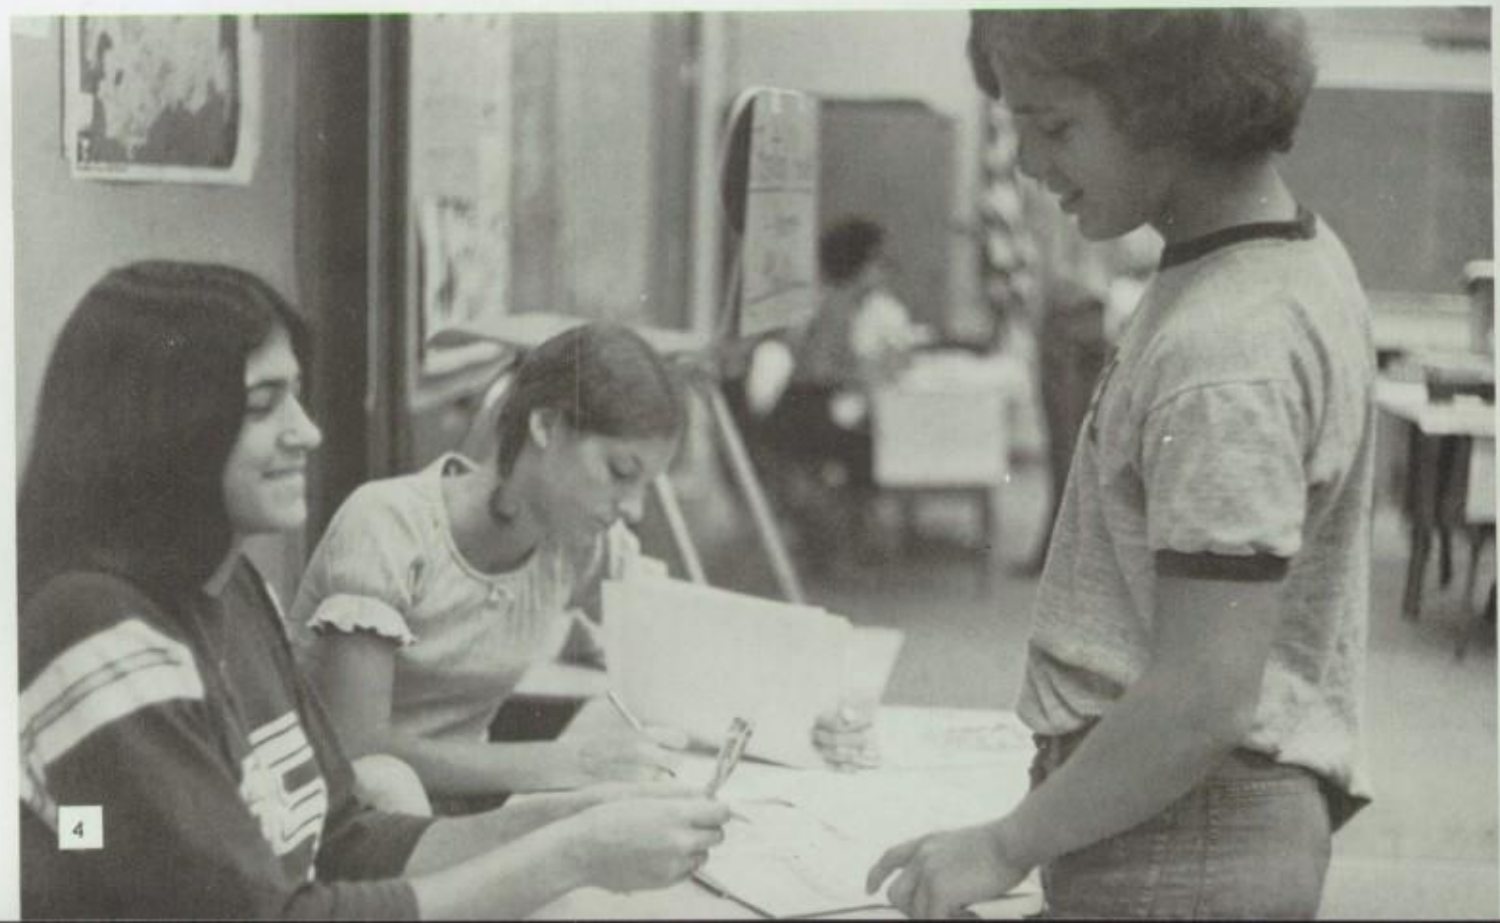
Student Life

1 Joe Fisk and Jim Fisher stand in line at senior registration. 2 Comparing schedules are Juanita Anzo and Martha Serrato. 3 Gaylen Yamasaki speaks at park dedication. 4 Rick Freitas buys his El Portal from Nancy Silva.



As Summer draws to an end . . .

Registration means the end of summer and the beginning of a new school year. Registration day is seeing all your classmates who you haven't seen all summer, the new kids, and most of all, the incoming freshmen. On August 27 and 28, students lined up in front of the Social Studies building to receive their programs for the upcoming year.

Another hint to students that summer would soon be gone was the dedication of the Gaylen A. Yamasaki Student Park. Construction of the new park, located by the Social Studies building, was headed by Gaylen Yamasaki who also had the ribbon cutting honors on August 27, 1973. It is a place all students will enjoy in years to come.

John Rodriguez here from Alecante, Spain

When I was coming here, I was expecting a hard time but all of you have made Tracy my home.

Always I was wanting something interesting to happen, and it came. It came with Tracy and its people and — what people!

I would like to come again some day and say: Look, my friends — A.F.S. really works!

Congress debates Ray Newberry

Where was it all going? This question was what congress was asking itself about the funds which it sent to Ray Newberry of Appalachia, Virginia. Ray, one of eleven children, received money from "Save the Children" Foundation of which Tracy High supported. The money was supposed to buy Ray's clothing and food but Congress has questioned whether or not it was used for this purpose. Pro and con committees were set up to review this situation.

February 28 marked Congress' March of Dimes drive in which ten groups of students canvassed the Tracy area. The amount raised was approximately one thousand dollars. Congress also supported Muscular Dystrophy with the funds received from the "Ugliest Man On Campus" campaign.

Tracy students took part in the S.J.S.A. exchanges which Congress initiated. Students signed up to spend one day at an area school and then guide visiting students around our campus for a day. School taking part were: Franklin, Stagg, Lodi, Edison and Lincoln.

Congress also bought records for the cafeteria and elected Mark Connolly as School Board Representative pro-tem. A trip to Santa Cruz was available to qualified members.

President Paul Chandler was impeached from office on March 6. Julie Guettler presided over the trial on March 11 and decision was left to the nine jury members picked at random. Chandler defended himself against Phil Anderson, chief prosecutor, who was assisted by June Robertson and Craig Lewandowski.

P.E. Reform becomes Congress Committee

Congress Committees were chosen during student government's first meeting in September. The committees were: Beautification, Special Recognition, Activities, Accreditation, and Ray Newberry. P.E. Reform Committee was formed at mid year.

Judy Warmann, Beautification Chairman, led her group in various activities such as painting the Dog House, raking the student park and reconstruction of the Senior pond.

Activities committee, headed by Anne Fukano, directed the 1974 student council election and helped with cheerleader-songleader tryouts. The committee also selected next year's activities and conducted noontime games.

June Robertson headed the Special Recognition Committee which has awarded many outstanding students.

Phil Anderson, P.E. Reform chairman, led his group in search of an answer to the P.E. program. They suggested electives be offered. An evaluation of the school was made by the Accreditation committee.

Outstanding students honored

Student Special Recognition awards were given to some of the most outstanding students.

Awards were presented at congress meetings at irregular intervals.

Special Recognition goes to outstanding juniors and seniors who are in many activities and still maintain a 3.0 scholastic average.

First award winners this year were Girls League President Liz Remonda, and senior class President Craig Lewandowski. Other winners were Rally Commissioner Michelle Makino, Key Club President Ed Graham, school Board Representative Phil Anderson, Representative to San Joaquin student Association Jeff Pribyl, senior class Vice President Candy Kimball, and American Field Service Student, John Rodriguez.

Student Aids work everywhere

Teacher Aides generally are used in two ways by the staff at Tracy High School. Some assist the teachers with paper work, running machines, correcting some papers, and run errands.

T.A.'s are used to help other students in the classroom in P.E., Math, Science, and Lab Band. Throughout Tracy High School there are approximately 220 student T.A.'s willing to help.

Student earned money while learning

About 125 students participated in the Work Experience Education Program.

Work Experience students have the opportunity to participate in a real job situation, doing work that is of a worthwhile nature, and that they receive school credit for their endeavors.

Students enrolled in Work Experience Education are supervised by a school representative, evaluated by the employer and issued a grade, required to maintain an accurate record of the days and hours worked and skills learned, are required to take part in related instruction, and report to the work experience advisor of the job is terminated.

Work Experience coordinators were Robert Coltrane, William Davis, Ross Domecq, Vernon Dooley, Wallace Fields, and Robert Home.

A possession from the past

Your El Portal is a possession that increases in value with age. A yearbook is a time capsule in book form. Years from now we will be able to look back and remember fads, teachers, and friends. It no doubt will provide many laughs, a few tears, and lots of memories.

This year the responsibility of collecting and organizing your memories is primarily on the shoulders of new advisor Emma Souza and editor Nancy Silva.

Many hours are spent designing layouts, writing copy, and taking pictures to produce the finished product you now hold in your hands. In addition to these jobs, advertising must be sold to meet the expenses of production.

During the summer of 1973 July Kelly, Pat Hamilton, Nancy Silva and Mrs. Souza attended a week-long yearbook conference in Santa Barbara. They brought back many new ideas and methods for yearbook design.

The staff also went to Lodi last fall along with Scholar and Athlete for a conference with the staffs of area high school newspapers and yearbooks.

S and A students attend conference

Scholar and Athlete, the school newspaper, raised controversy in its editorials about Student Body President, Paul Chandler. The paper questioned whether or not Chandler should be impeached from office and alloted him space to respond.

The newspaper is an affiliated member of such organizations as Columbia Scholastic Press Association (CSPA), National Scholastic Press Association (NSPA), and Quill and Scroll. It is rated First Class and Medalist by the NSPA and CSPA respectively.

Kevin Towns won first place in a sports write-off at a C.V.S.J.A. workshop in Lodi last fall, which was also attended by El Portal students. This spring, Scholar and Athlete's staff planned to attend a press conference in San Francisco, sponsored by the N.S.P.A. and news conferences sponsored by Stockton Record and the San Francisco Press Association.

Climb every mountain

Speech team has had a real mountain to climb. Having graduated seven-eights of its high scorers from last season, it faced the challenge of trying to repeat the feat of last year's veteran team and win the league championship. The outstanding team was led by coach Earnest G. Poletti and captain Phil Anderson. The high scorers for the season were Liz Remonda, Phil Anderson, Virginia Mitchell, Sue Ellington, June Robertson, Judy Warmann, Chuck Spatafore and Bill Rieger.

Bulldog Band gives its all

Bulldog Marching Band's most important competition was held in Cupertino November 17 in which it placed first in its division and ranked third highest in scoring. The remainder of the band's competition schedule included Concord, October 6; Redding, October 13; U.O.P., October 27; and Merced, November 3 in which they placed fourth, first, third, and fifth respectively. As well as these activities they performed during halftime at home games.

Band members elected Nancy Silva to represent them during homecoming festivities as Band Sweetheart.

Most poeple don't realize all the hard work and effort that is put forth by the "Pride of Tracy." Not only can its members be heard first period every morning but can also be seen many evenings practicing for half-time shows and competition.

Tracy has spirit, so lets hear it . . . Seniors are the best da da da da . . . Go Go Go team . . .

These were just a few of the yells that were heard during the 1973-74 Homecoming Rally. The rally was held at night in the main gym. Students filled the bleachers waiting to see the crowning of the queen, skits, relays, and to be entertained by some "friendly?" monsters from Franklin High.

Even though, there was no band for after the rally, as there has been in past years, student spirit was still high during the course of the evening.

Martha Serrato first Mexican American to be Homecoming Queen

Martha Serrato presided as Homecoming Queen for the year 1973-74. She is the first Mexican American girl to be chosen Homecoming Queen in the history of Tracy High School. Last spring she had the honor of being queen for Cinco de Mayo, a celebration of an important national Mexican holiday. Her attendants for the year were six other senior girls: Angela Bogetti, Cindy Gutirrez, Kim Harding, Cynthia Romero, Sally Stevens and Denise Williams.

These seven girls were nominated in the traditional manner by Boys' Block T and then voted on by the Varsity Football Team and senior boys.

Martha well deserved the honor for she made a beautiful queen while reigning over this years homecoming festivities.

Homecoming Parade breaks record

Homecoming Parade for the year 1973-74 boasted a record 45 units including marching bands, decorated cars and floats.

The parade followed the same route as in past years; proceeding through the middle of town and then back down Holly Drive to the High School.

Homecoming Queen Martha Serrato led the way for her attendants in a Mark IV Continental.

Rollerskating clowns distributed balloons to the children.

Homecoming Day seemed to be threatened by dark skies. Though it started to rain just before the parade, it was only momentarily and the parade started on schedule.

Downtown Tracy streets were filled with shouting crowds Friday afternoon November 9. Spectators had come to see Tracy High promoting spirit against the Franklin Yellowjackets.

Floats were prepared in the same manner as last year. Students held flower parties at their homes and prepared all the other necessary equipment for their floats. The floats themselves were not actually put together until the day of the parade.

Class of 1974 for the third year in a row, won first in float competition. Seniors worked long and hard on the making of their float which proved to be successful. Second place went to the Sophomore Class and third to the Juniors.

Not only did the Seniors do well succeeding in their task but the whole school did a fine job in preparing for this year's parade.

Nicholson new Varsity Head Coach

Tracy High Bulldogs started the season with a new head coach, Don Nicholson. Under his guidance, the varsity team compiled a 5-1 league record which secured their claim to the co-championship of the San Joaquin Athletic Association.

Sharing the title with the Bulldogs, were the Franklin Yellowjackets and the Lodi Flames. Tracy tallied a 7-3 overall record which cost them their bid to represent the SJAA in the Turkey Bowl. The League was represented by Franklin, which compiled a 8-2 overall record.

Coach Nicholson feels that Tony Dumlao, Dave Davidson, and Randy Smith were his most valuable players since the start of the season, but adds that the whole team was outstanding.

Song and yell leaders promote spirit

Cheerleaders and Songleaders went to Squaw Valley Cheerleading Clinic. Both varsity and Frosh-Soph squads received ratings of excellent. Frosh-Soph won the Spirit Stick for showing the best spirit at Camp. Songleaders were also successful in learning their routines of pep and rhythm for the rallies and games.

Taking rooters along the cheerleaders had a lot of backing at the game. Everyone showed great spirit to keep the Tracy teams going.

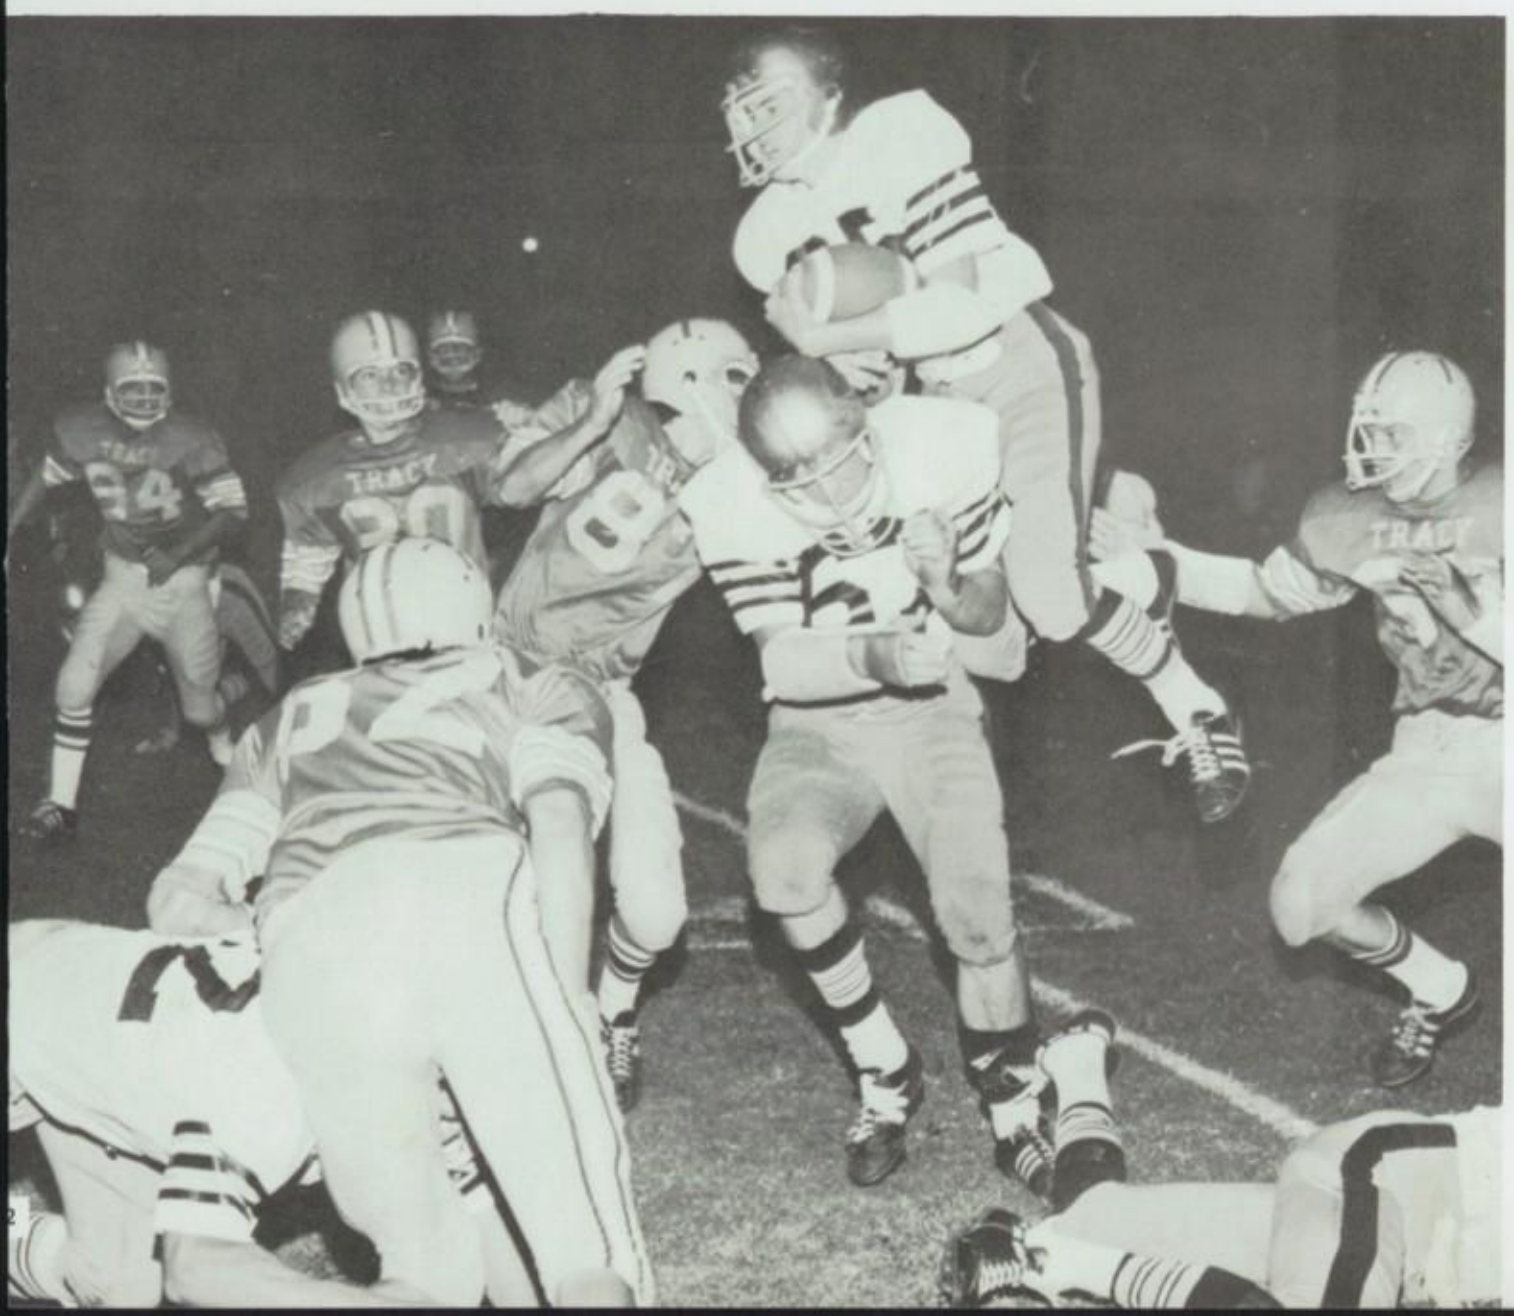
Spirit of 76 clinches title

Sophomore team won the SJAA championship. New Head Coach Gary Abate led his team in nine wins and only one loss with Assistant Coaches Mike Miller and Dave Sazama.

This year's sophomore team, described by Coach Abate, was an outstanding group of football players. Winning awards at the football banquet were Earl Dumlao, Outstanding Back and Carl Dumlao, Lineman Award and Bob Fagundes, Scholar and Athlete.

Toughest game that the Sophomores played was Lodi. Coach Abate says that these players will go on to be good on the varsity team.



1 Brad Strong (80) catches a good pass while Frank Grande (42) attempts to help Brad get away from opponent. 2 A host of Pups run to stop this player from gaining anymore yardage while atop the shoulder of his teammate.

Leaders of tomorrow serve community

Proclamation of November 25 to December 1 as Key Club Week in Tracy was presented to President Ed Graham by Mayor Robert Wilburn. Other Key Club highlights was a dance on May 17, and the annual Basketball Marathon held as an aid to the community.

Sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, Key Club is open to all 10th, 11th, and 12th grade young men who maintain at least a C average.

Developing leadership, providing experience in living and working together, serving the community, and preparing for useful citizenship are some of the clubs objectives.

Drama Club plays it up

Drama Club, besides doing plays, worked in the football concession stand and at the basketball games. They made Christmas ornaments and went ice skating and Christmas caroling.

They were also the crews for the musical "Once Upon a Mattress", "The Crucible", and "Bell, Book and Candle." They participated in Drama Day at Delta College and Manteca High School and Night of One Acts.

Administration makes plans

Two important projects occupied the attention of the district.

First was the planning and bidding of major new construction on campus. A new fine arts facility, mathematics-science building, and sub-gymnasium were designed to replace teaching stations in the old West Building. Remodeling of the music building and fine arts structure was also scheduled to proceed.

Second project was an exhaustive study prepared for the Accrediting Commission of the Western Association of Schools and Colleges. This six-member group conducted an intensive evaluation of Tracy High late in February.

1 James French, District Superintendent 2 Louis A. Bohn, Assistant Superintendent for Instruction, Verlin N. Buchard, Assistant Superintendent for Business Services, Bev. E. Frye, Principal, at a Tuesday night School Board meeting in SS5.

1 B. Earl Frye's "girl Friday," Eleanor Tillotson and Student Body Bookkeeper Evelyn Anastasio take time out. 2 Gil Moe, attendance counselor and activities director, and Principal B. Earl Frye are sideliners at a football game. 3 Theresa Moreno, Sydney Haupt, Ruth Flint and Mary Hoyt round out the office crew. 4 Bill Swenson, vice Principal and Virginia Lapsys, campus counselor, confer.

B. Earl Frye lauds Student park.

Our principal is also a friend

Though faced with many responsibilities throughout the year, B. Earl Frye still manages to find moments with which to discuss problems with students. Principal Frye is also open to innovations in administration, such as teacher evaluation. Among other activities with which he is involved are Hot Line Committee, School Accreditation, and School Board meetings.

What would we do without counselors?

Counselors are concerned with the present as well as the future of each student. They provide students with information on colleges and universities, scholarships, and student loan programs. The department is concerned with the welfare of all the students and teachers at Tracy High. Group counseling sessions meet in which students who wish to participate get together and discuss different subjects and problems. Heads of this project are John Coakley and Tom Greenley.

1 Betty Lemons, Marilyn Thiel, Irene Saenz, and Alzira Scott help the counselors with their work. 2 Al Waddell, Dorothy Fleisig, John Coakley, and Tom Greenley, counselors, help students with their problems. 3 Kathy Curnow, Brenda Pickering and Tom Greenley go over topic during group counseling. 4 Earl Bortz, head counselor, chats on the phone with a friend. 5 Mrs. Flo Makino, school nurse, sees students three days a week in her office next to the counseling office.

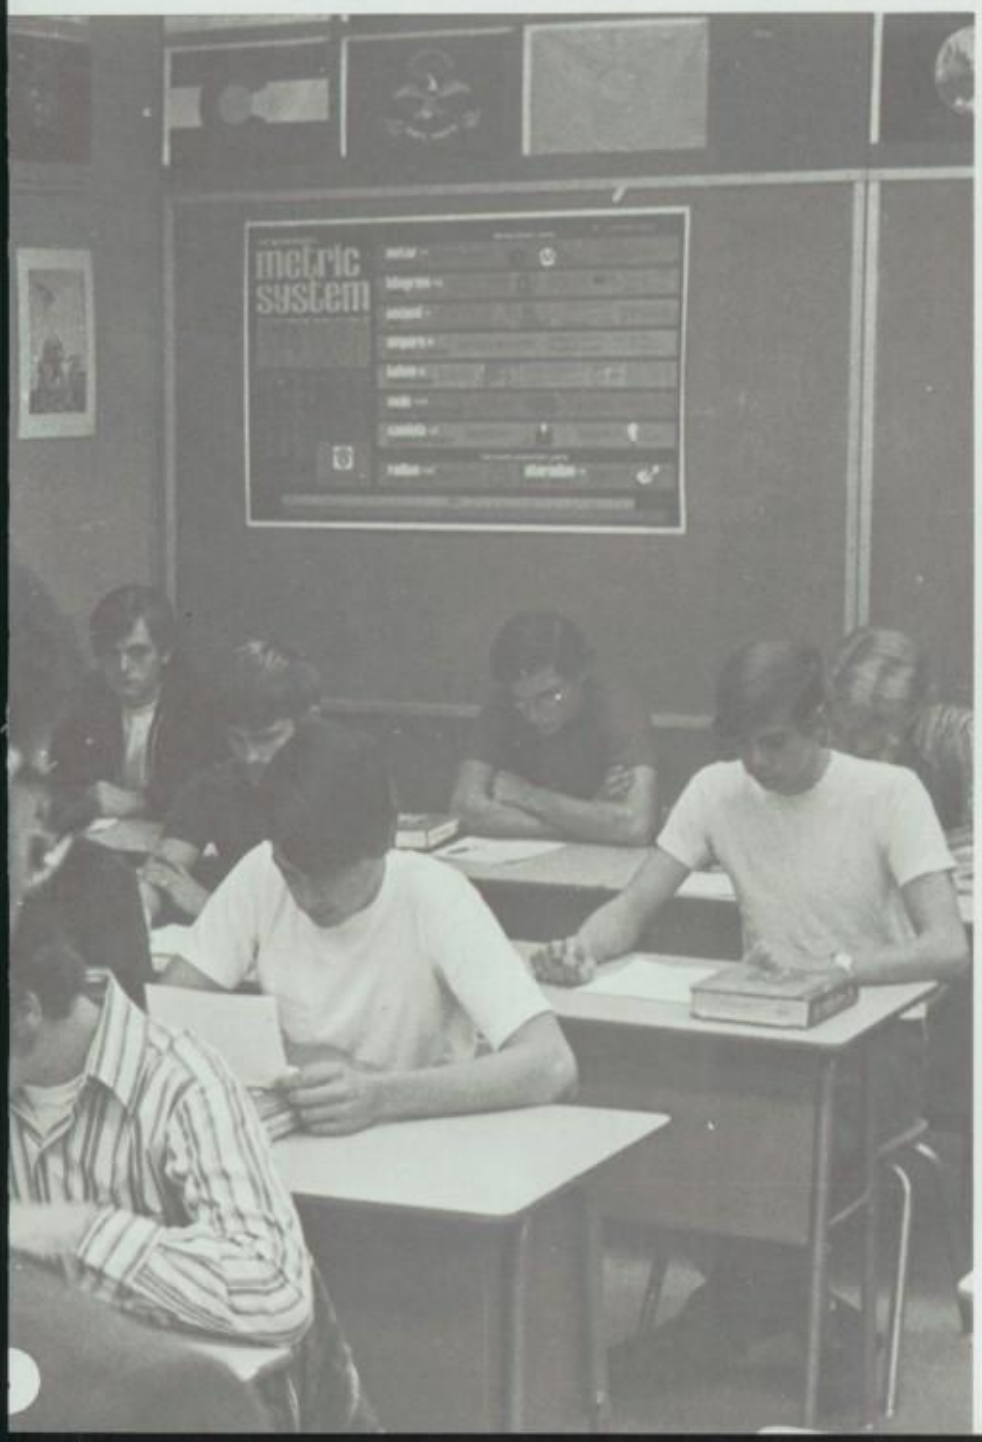
Students develop awareness

Social Studies Department attempts to develop the student in such a way that he becomes aware of the world around him. Through the study of history and the problems of our century, the student gains an interest in the conditions that influence his everyday life. The strength of democracy depends on the education of the young in the principles of his government.

1 Students hard at work in U.S. History. 2 Everyone looks busy in Mr. Juelke's American Government class. 3 Mr. Treantos keeps students interested. 4 Delta College psychology students demonstrate conditioning in SS5.



English features elective program

English department offered juniors and seniors a wider variety of elective classes which ranged from philosophy to composition and from American Indian to filmmaking. All classes yield full English credit toward graduation and are acceptable to all California state colleges and universities. Leo Schools, program coordinator, stated the basic concept of the program was to give the student the opportunity to match his classes to his needs.

Arts have full year

Art, Orchestra, Band, Choir, Drama, and Speech, are among the classes offered by the Fine Arts Department.

New equipment included a printing press purchased by the Art Department.

Art Department had an art exhibit displayed in the Wadsworth Memorial Library during the month of May.

Orchestra was kept busy with various activities throughout the year which included a performance with the Symphony and Song Club presenting "Gloria" at the Christmas concert, and at the Solo Ensemble Festival.

Speech Team consists of 125 members who compete in debate, exempt, impromptu, original oratory, expository, and humorous and dramatic acting. They are the Triple Crown Holders in their league.

Choir and Singing Ayres sang sacred and secular music at festivals and competitions throughout the year which included Stanislaus Music Festival.

Language classes use varied methods

Most valuable asset of learning a foreign language is to be able to communicate. Through expanded channels of communications one can better understand other people as well as oneself.

Foreign Language Department attempts to give the student a chance to read another language by involving him in many activities. These activities do not always involve the textbook. They incorporate films, pictures, music, drama, games, magazines, and simulations of every day experiences as much as possible into the class. Many field trips as possible are arranged by the department to coordinate with the students' studies.

In this way the Department hopes to fulfill the students needs.

Math plans new facility

Innovations of the math department included a more individualized approach and an intensified student use of computers. A student is given his assignment, solves it, and then checks his answer on the computer.

Plans were being formulated for the Math-Science complex which was scheduled to be constructed this year. It will feature such items as more computers, eight classrooms, an auditorium, an office, a workroom, and a math library.

Participation increases in science camp

Science camp which is sponsored by the county has had increased student participation. Each semester about twenty to thirty juniors and seniors went to camp. To be eligible to go students must sign up with the Science Department and be screened by a committee on the basis of citizenship and academic achievement.

All science classes had the opportunity to go to the Delta College Planetarium in Stockton last fall.

Laboratory work has been the Science Department's focal point of interest this year.

Plans were being formulated for the Math-Science complex which was scheduled to be constructed this spring. It will feature four science classrooms, display clases, and a place for the telescopes used in the astronomy classes. New teaching methods will include different approaches and new designs.

Cow Palace big event

New this year for the Agriculture Department was the breaking up of all year classes into semester classes. This enables the students to specialize in the type of agriculture they prefer.

Semester classes include meat processing, construction, agriculture, machinery, farm plants, and plant landscaping. Also new for the Agriculture Department is Dave Brubaker who teaches horse classes and engines.

Students showed their livestock at the Cow Palace April 5-9.

Purpose of the Agriculture Department is to teach students skills that will be helpful to them after graduation.

Industrial arts proud of their facilities

Our Industrial Arts Department is very proud of their new facilities that were completed last summer.

We have some of the finest shop facilities in this area for those students interested in the Vocational fields.

One important feature of the new facilities is the air conditioning, which few shops in this area have.

The new facilities made it possible for more students to take photography; enrollment doubled.

Auto shop has a new instructor, Alan Pantle, a racing enthusiast who owns a Henry J drag racer with a 370 engine.

Carpentry class will soon have completed another three bedroom home. The boys under the supervision of Tom Sazama do all the carpentry, plumbing, painting, electrical and cabinet work. It was ready for sale at the end of the present school year.

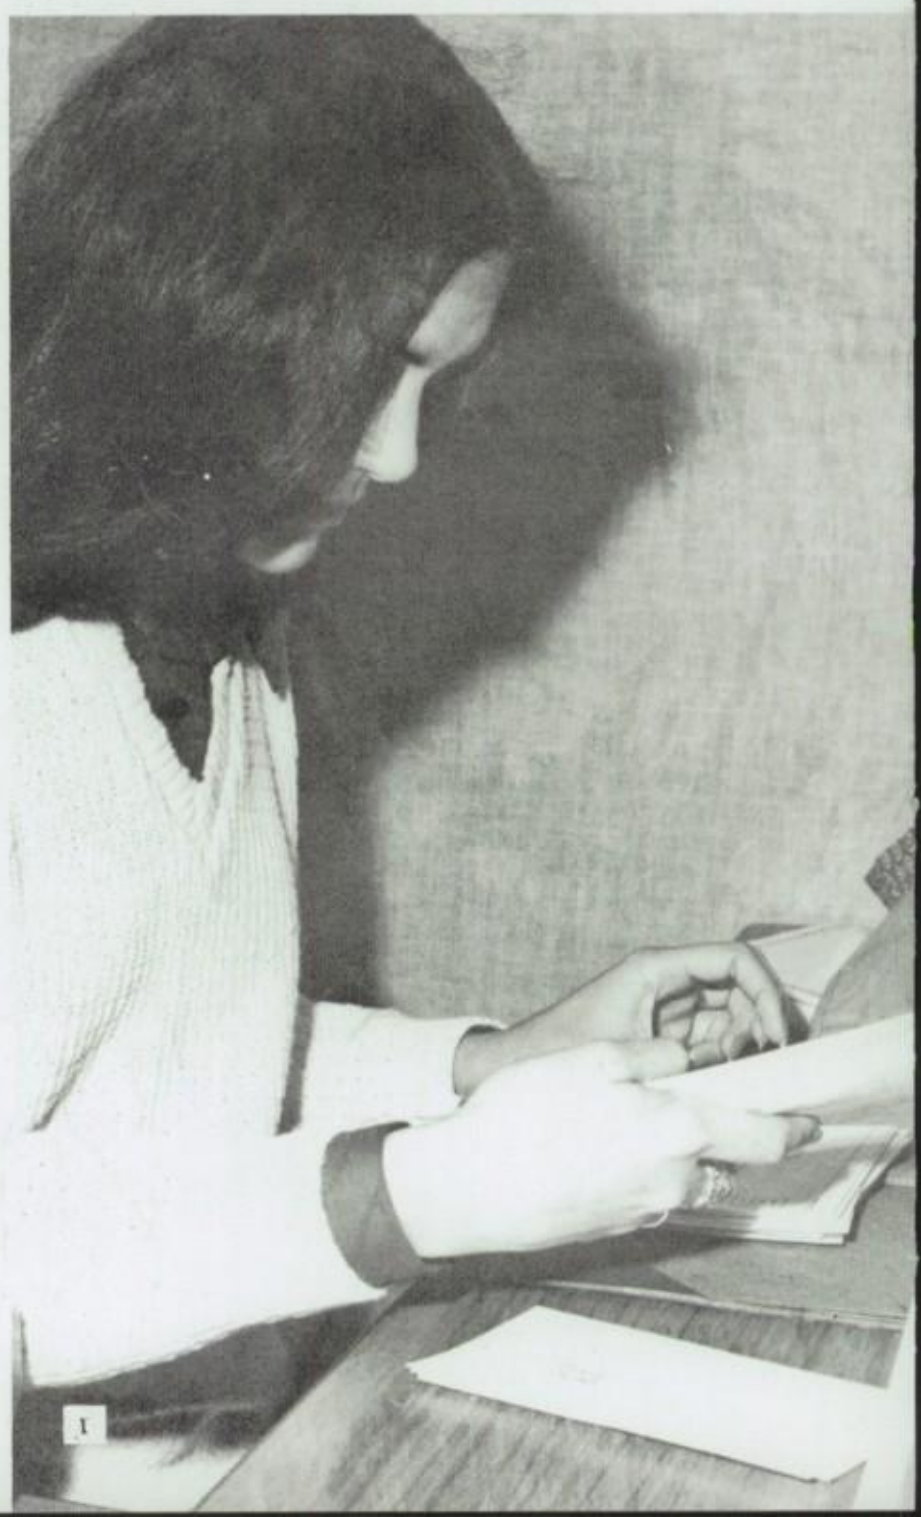
Business Department opens Student Store

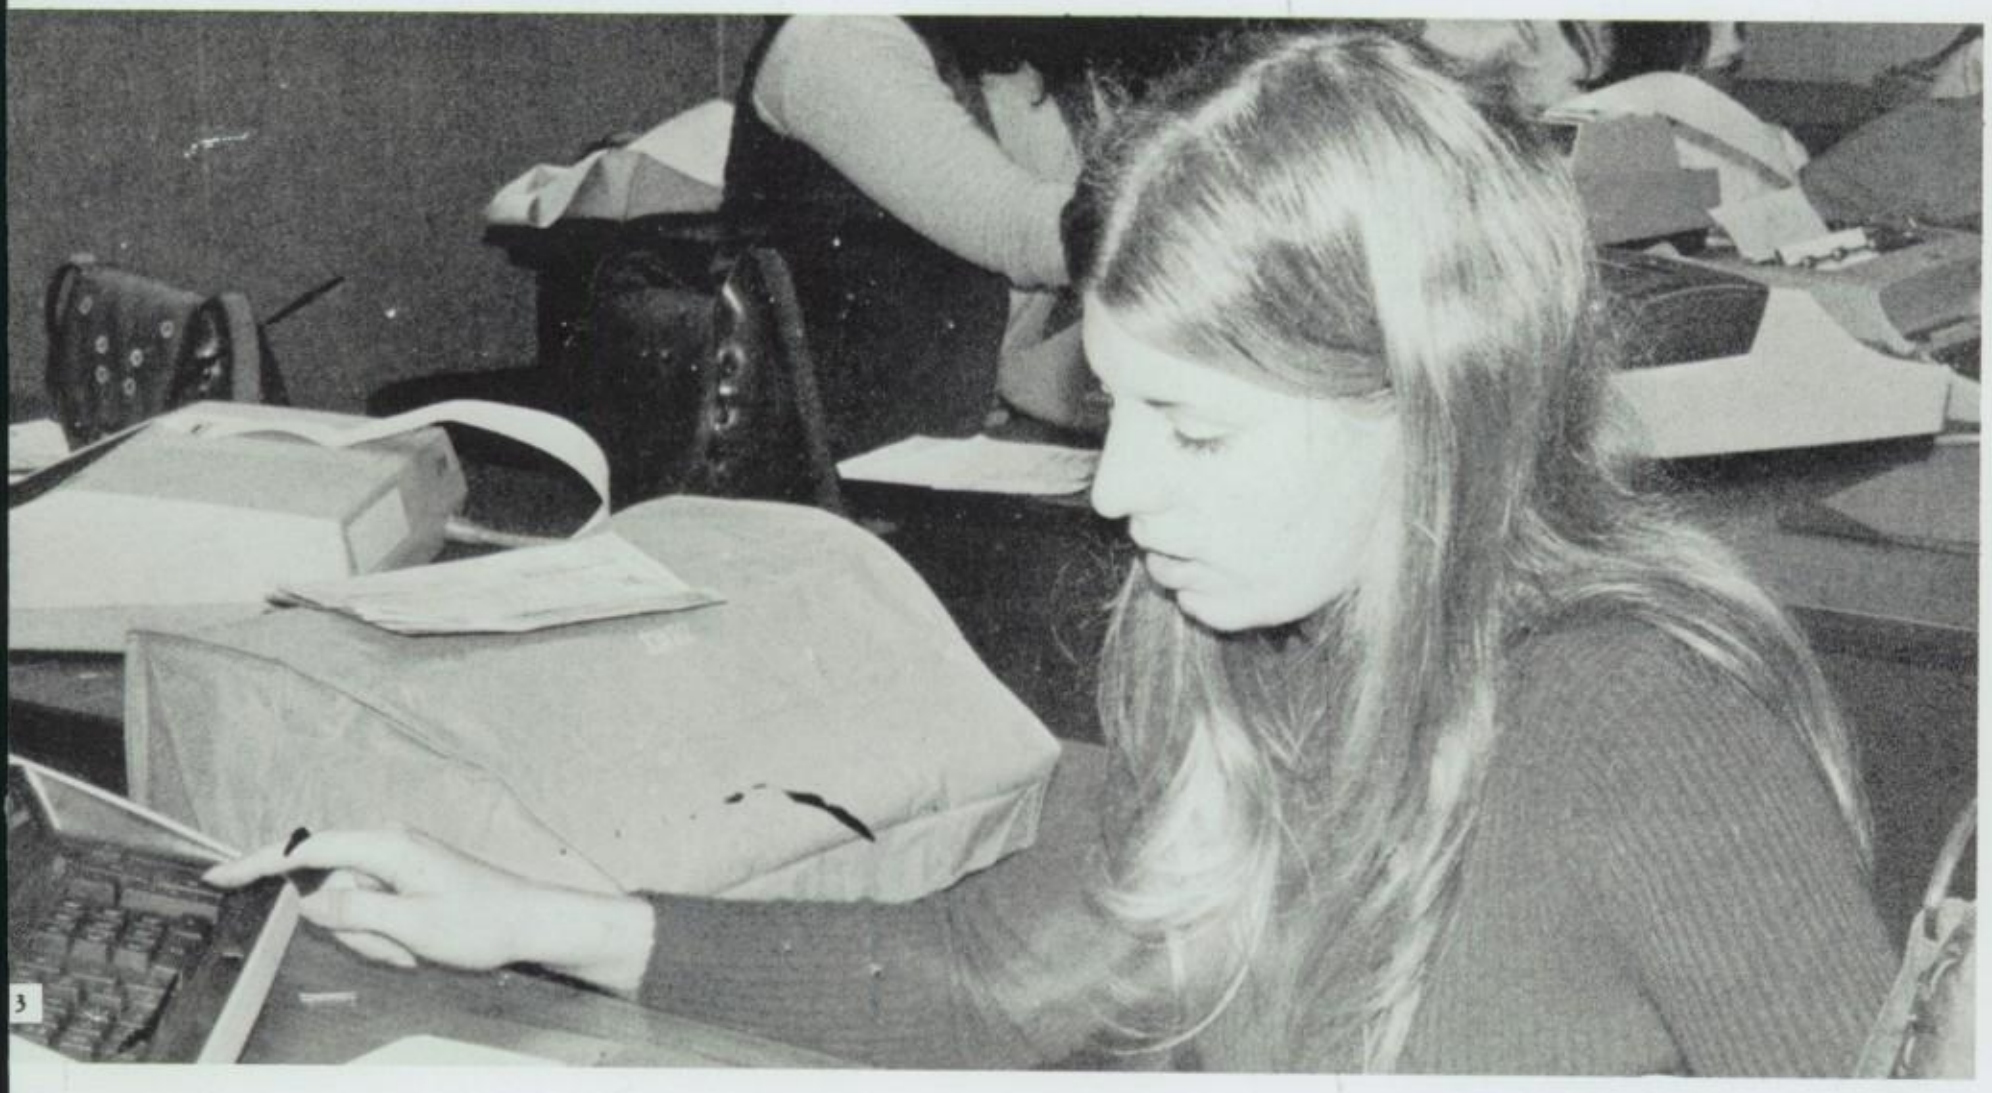
Business department opened the student store which is directed by Bob Coltrane. The store featured a grand opening, free passes to the new Holiday Theatre and reduced prices on many of its items. Students were able to buy such goodies as potato chips, candy, spirit items and school supplies from the store which was open for business both lunches and during regular school hours.

Office Skills and Simulated Office were new classes offered by the Department. Office skills, which is available to junior and senior girls, teaches how to use most adding machines and file. Simulated Office, offered only to senior girls, is an office with approximately ten departments. This class teaches how a business runs and "pays" its workers each Friday for the work they have done.

1 Vicki Tate efficiently does her job in Simulated Office.



1 Madeline Sordello as billing clerk in Simulated office. 2 Mary Chao trys her hand at transcribing in shorthand. 3 Debbie Witt as accounts receivable in Simulated Office.



Watch out!!!
Student driver

Driver Education offers a wide range of teaching methods. With the driving simulators, the students get the "feel of the wheel" without actually driving. The classroom work adds basic knowledge of the road before going out and challenging it. Then comes the real thing . . . The students get a chance to drive, stall, jerk, or whatever the case may be!

Included in the course are First-Aid, World Geography and Family Life. This course is required by the state and is also required that Sophomores take it.

Girls make it happen, whether on the tennis court, softball field, archery range, basketball court, or in the swimming pool. For those girls who don't find the outdoors their thing, Laura Watsons dance class offers a variety of special dancing including rythmic gymnastics and afro-haitian. Senior and Junior girls are offered electives ranging from golf to bowling. Freshmen and Sophomores learn the basic fundamentals including swimming and square dancing. For all the girls, P.E. offers a road to excellent physical fittness.

Sports available to students are baseball, track, swimming, tennis, golfing, basketball, and volleyball. Boys' P.E. is a place where most boys are able to compete in a sport of some kind.

New P.E. teachers were Steve Donahue and Rob DeWitt. Henry Welch is head of the Boys' P.E. Department. Plans were being made for a Sub Gym for the department. Gone from the department were Wayne Schneider and Doug Peargin.

Reading undergoes program change

Reading Department underwent a vast change during the 73-74 school year. Individualized learning was the key concept in the reading lab. A large variety of materials available, to students allowed teachers to personalize content rate and level for each student. Reading teachers test, diagnose and analyze each student's reading behavior and then prescribe appropriate work.

Two teachers and a teacher's assistant are at hand to help students throughout the day.

Student reaction to individual learning has been very favorable. Witness to the success of the program was televised by Channel 13 for a half hour show on Focus On Education.

Students learn to be productive

Being a very productive class, Special Education helps students with reading, history, math and household chores. The students use audio-visual aid in their learning. They also have a house which was built by carpentry class. This enables the students to cook meals, do the dishes and clean and plant things around the house.

Students are able to go on many field trips throughout the year. One of them was to Yosemite National Park, where they camped out and learned to care for themselves in the outdoors.

Library features new equipment

Tracy High boasts one of the most modern campus libraries in the state. With both audio visual equipment and a music system, the library offers both recreation and education.

One of the most modern features of the library is the microfilm file. Students may use the viewing machine to obtain needed information.

Assisting Librarian Bill Davies with the task of running the library are Mrs. Viola Stocking and Mrs. Billie Simms. There are also eleven student aids employed for one period daily.

Serving you is their job

Custodians, bus drivers and the cafeteria workers are the people whose services many students take for granted. All of these workers except Mrs. Poet's bus drivers are hired by the district and together they make up the Tracy Chapter of the California School Employees Association. The CSEA sponsors an annual scholarship to a student whose parent is a member of the local chapter.

Mrs. Esther Poet, a 46 year veteran bus driver, was named the 1973-"Safety Woman of the Year" on February 27. She drove more than 675,000 miles without a chargeable accident or injury during her career. Mrs. Poet, who contracts her buses to the district, also received a school bus driver award at the 1972 Governor's Safety Conference.

Classes

Juniors rank high on spirit

Juniors elected Eddie Helms president, Mary Anne Sequeira vice-president, Sylvia Linarez secretary, Judy Naranjo treasurer.

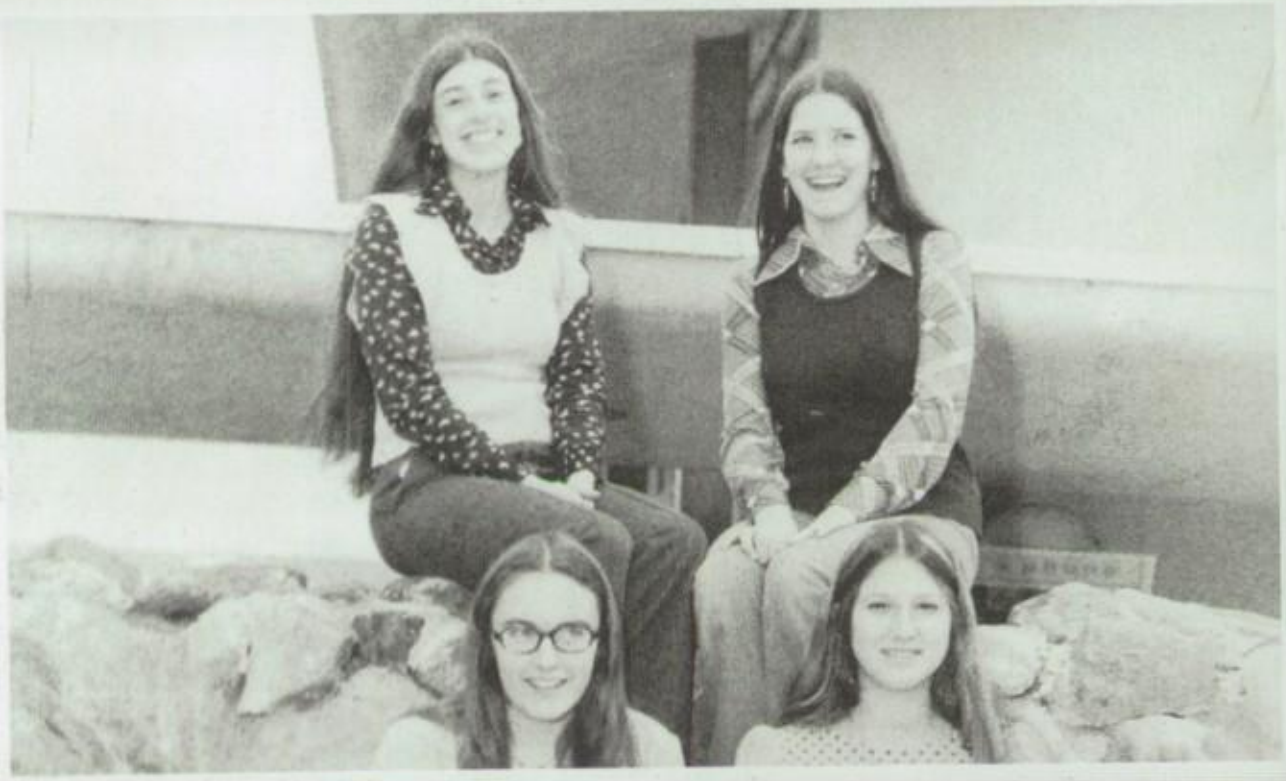
Juniors won third place on Homecoming float competition along with winning competition yells at rallies the most times.

Varsity football tied for championship of the San Joaquin Athletics Association.

Sophomores lead to victory

Sophomores elected Janice Yrigoyen president, Tammi Freitas vice-president, Nancy Fisher treasurer, Tammi Wood secretary.

Spirit of '76' held up strong as the football team lead its way to victory. This was twice in two years for this class to win championship. They also caught second place in class float competition for the Homecoming Parade.



Creative freshmen win first

Freshmen are very spirited. Although they never won in spirit competition, they did win for the best posters at the rallies.

They too won championship in football. They are very proud to have had Mike Landis and Jeff Butler promoted to the sophomore basketball team.

Freshmen elected Mark Steele president, Janet Overstreet vice-president, Diane Costa treasurer, Alice Costa secretary.

Seniors show different personalities

Many people have different personalities, and Seniors are no exception. The El Portal Staff composed a list of seven different categories for the Senior Hall of Fame. The ballots were sent out to all senior English classes where all seniors were elegible to vote. There were categories ranging from Craziest Clown to Brainiest Brain. Seniors voted for any person in the senior class whom they thought would fit in each category. What would this world be like without the Seniors of '74? Pretty dull, that's for sure!

1 Perfect Personality: Lori Warner, Craig Lewandowski

2 Exotic Eyes: Diane Koster, Bobby Fisher

1 Spectacular Smile: Patti Mahaffey, Danny Coelho
2 Craziest Clowns: Madeline Sordello, Paul Serpa

1 Brainiest Brain:
Candy Kimball, Phil Anderson

2 Spunky Spirit:
Michelle Makino, Paul Serpa

3 Flirtiest Flirt:
Julie Guettler, Scott Steele

Our class of '74 shall live on

Seniors this year elected Craig Lewandowski President, Candy Kimball Vice President, Tina Freitas Secretary, Debbie Ortega Treasurer, and Anthea Stefanides Girls League Representative. The seniors got together and for the third year in a row put together the winning Homecoming float.

Tracys varisty team tied for first place in football under new coach, Don Nicholson. The basketball team played a tough schedule under the direction of our new coach, Rob DeWitt.

It happened in '74

"The comet is coming" was heard by many Tracy people during the months preceeding its arrival. The comet Kahoutek which only appears once in 50,000 years chose the year '74 for its return. Comments such as "Where is it?" and "I can't see it!" were uttered by many Tracites during the three month span of the mighty comet which, due to bad weather, was never spotted in the dark skies.

'74 will also be remembered for the gas shortage which caused some people to panic. Long lines were formed and could be seen for blocks and blocks while people waited to buy a limited quantity of gas. Many times, people were turned away after waiting quite a while because the stations daily gas allotment had run out.

Impeachment was on the tongues of many Americans because of the question about President Nixon's involvement in watergate. Many Tracy High students also uttered the word about Student Boyd president, Paul Chandler. Chandler was impeached by Congress on March 6 and went down in Tracy High history as the first president to be impeached in 15 years.

Tracy's new Holiday Theatre opened for business on March 6, which was over 3 months delay. "A Touch of Class" and "Riders in the Rain" were billed as its first showings.

Campus happenings featured in '74 were the opening of the student store and the beginning of the construction of new facilities. The store was a tremendous success with students and sold goodies during regular school hours. The building program made many students grumble about the fences that went up as construction began. Many comments such as "This is worse than prison" were heard through the student body.

All happened in '74 and set it apart from other years.

Streaking? In Tracy?

Parking caused many problems for students. At the beginning of school, students were forced to park their cars into less space. When construction of the new facilities began in March, the lots on the eastern part of the campus and in front of the cafeteria were closed to students, causing even more jammed parking conditions. This was relieved when the district purchased the lot across 11th Street.

Installation of a stereo system in the campus library was accomplished with the help of Marty Abelar, Charles Bland, Terry Cote, and Lawrence Hart, members of John Avakians advanced electronics class. Students are now able to check out tapes and earphones for their listening pleasure.

Throughout the nation many parents worried over their children who went to school in the dark when the switch to Daylight Saving Time was made in January. The switch, due to the energy crisis, caused many local schools to change to a later schedule. Tracy's students continued to go to school in the dark.

Groans of shock, dismay or anger were uttered by students and citizens when "streaking" became a national fad in the Spring. Tracy, not to be outdone, had its share of "streakers," and to the consternation of many, they were mainly of the male sex. Local "streakers" visited many of Tracy's businesses and were treated as pranksters.

Chandler wins verdict

Paul Chandler, 1974 Student Body President, made Tracy High history when he was impeached by Congress with a 59-20 vote on March 6 for failure to perform in office, low grades and disciplinary problems. Chandler, who was the first president to be indicted in 15 years, had an open trial in the auditorium on March 13.

Julie Guettler, Student Body Secretary, presided over the affair and nine students who were picked at random and screened by the prosecution and defense served as the jury. Philip Anderson filled the role of prosecuting attorney and was assisted by Debbie Beasley and June Robertson. Mark Connolly assisted Chandler in his defense.

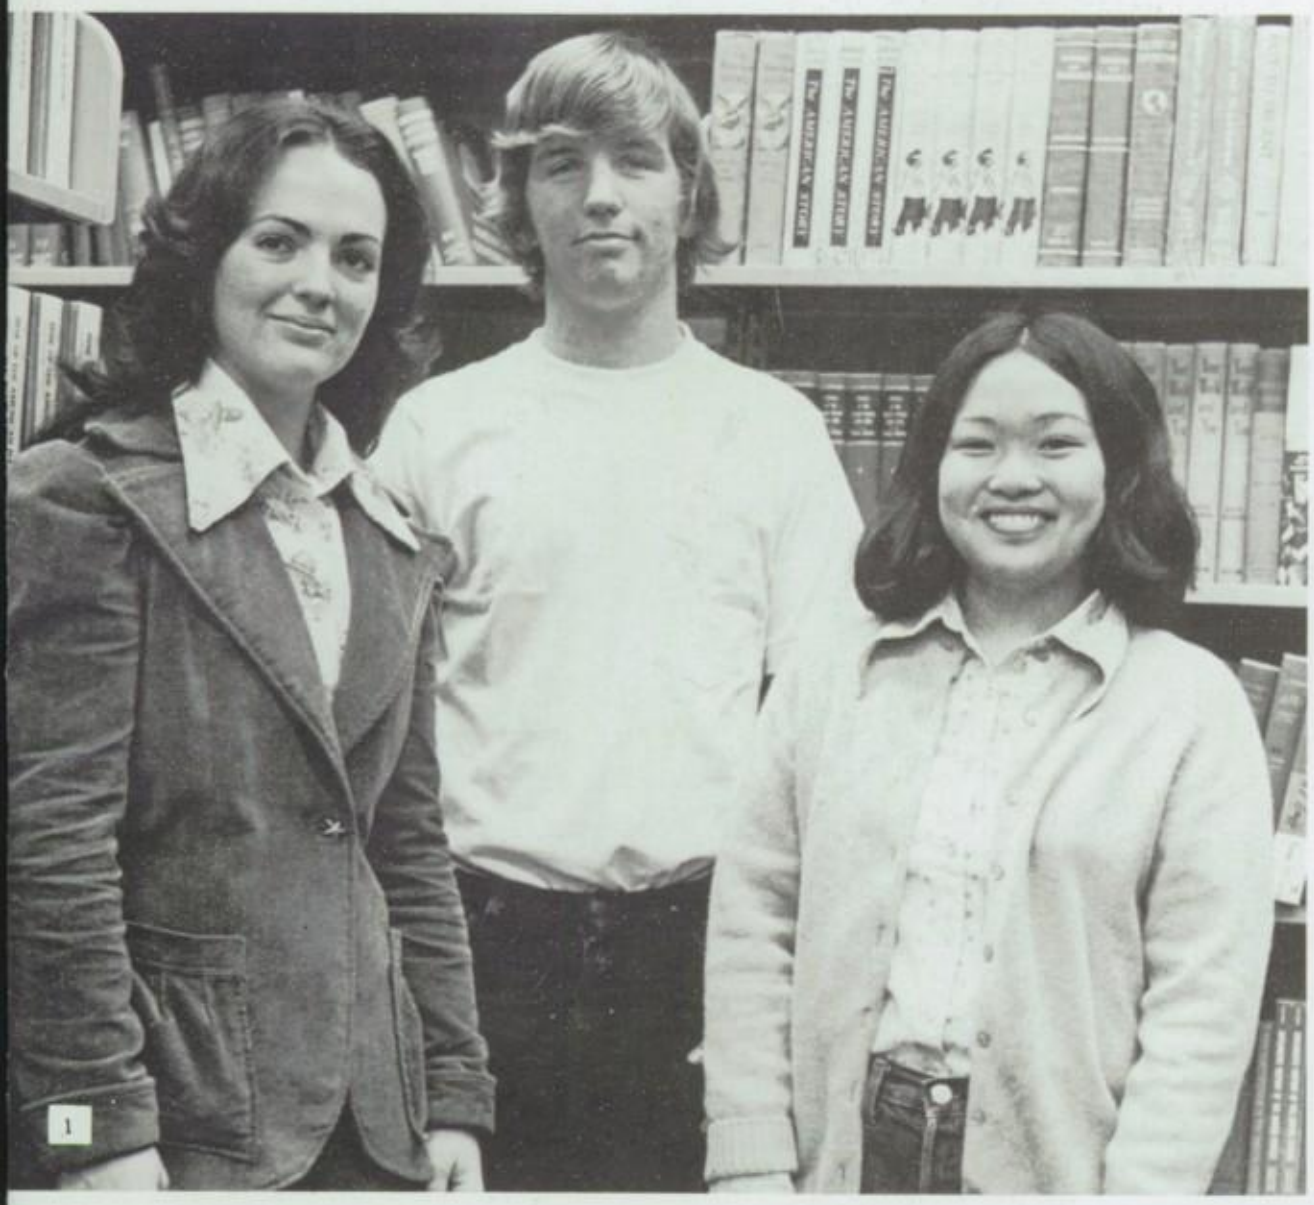
Proceedings began with opening statements made by the prosecution and defense. As the trial wore on both sides had the opportunity to call witnesses on their behalf and for cross-examination.

Chandler did not deny the charges and claimed they were not grounds for removal from office.

Many times, the judge had to pound her gavel and shout for order in the packed courtroom during the two hour session.

Summations were given by both sides and the jury voted 6-3 in Chandler's favor.

1 Phil Anderson received award for Liberal Arts; Nancy Silva, Fine Arts; Craig Lewandoski, Vocational Arts; Candy Kimball, Mathematics and Lab Science. 2 Jeff Pribyl received award for Trades; Beatrice Gabriel, Home Economics; Eugene Pombo, Agriculture; Lisa Mariano, Business.

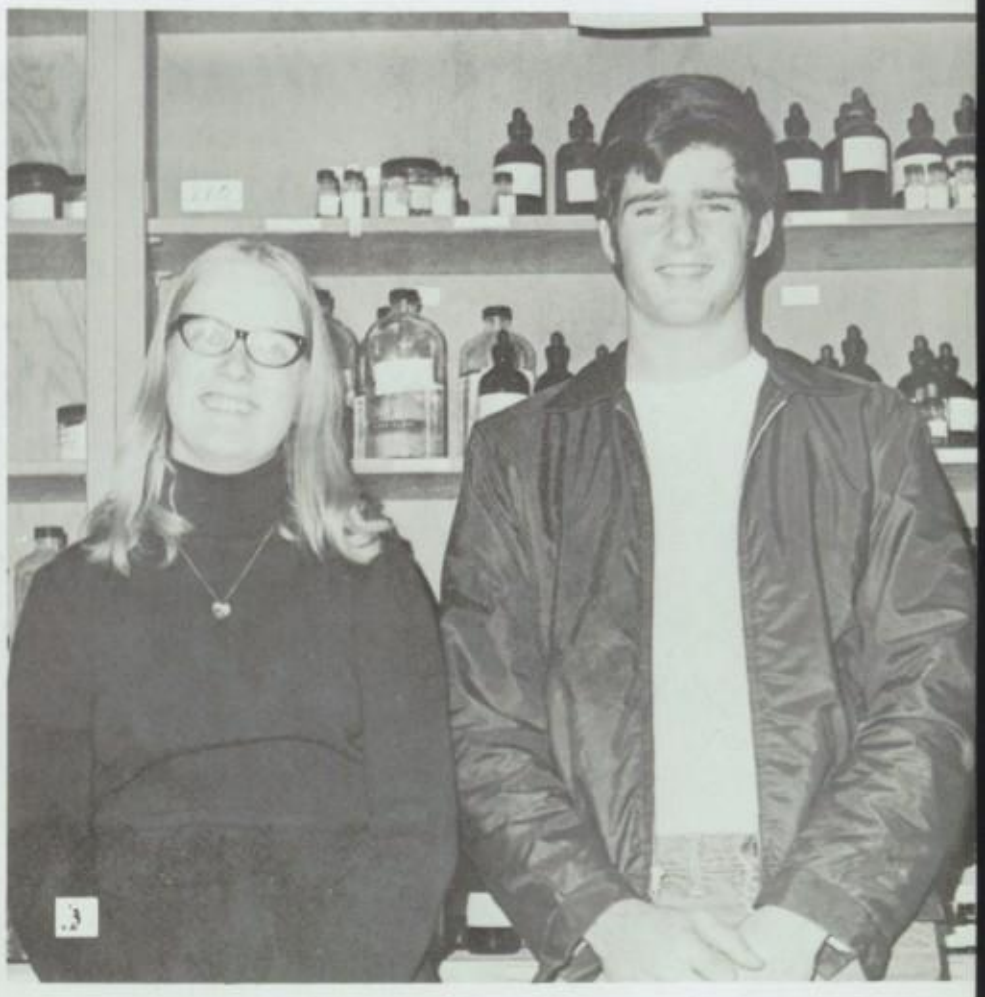


B of A Award Winners

Sixteen Tracy High Seniors won awards in the annual Bank of America Achievement contest.

This nationwide program for honoring scholastic achievement will allow the four general recipients to compete for zone and state cash awards.

Students excelling in their field of studies were chosen by their instructors. Decisions were based primarily on scholastic ability, though participation in school and community activities were also taken into consideration.



1 Elise Azpetia received award for Social Studies; Fred Thiel, English; Anne Fukano, Foreign Language. 2 David Phelps received award for Art; Michelle Makino, Music; Robin Atkinson, Drama. 3 Judy Warmann received award for Lab Science; Edward Graham, Mathematics.

Another year has passed.
For some it has been a year of quietness, tranquility, and calmness, but for many a year of excitement, concern and the ability to cope with the joys and sorrows that make a year,
"Our Year."
